Getting Around In Chicago

From the airports to the hotels:

FROM O'HARE

Take the BLUE LINE train (the station is in the airport on the lower level, just follow signs) towards Chicago (it dead-ends at O'hare, so you only have one option).

Option 1- all trains) Take Blue Line to Washington, and transfer to Red Line Northbound. Get off at Chicago Ave for Millenium Knickerbocker or Clark/Division for Ambassador East. Then walk the remaining blocks to hotels.

Option 2 – train to bus) FOR AMBASSADOR: Take Blue Line to DIVISION stop. Take #70 bus Eastbound to Clark/Division Station. Walk last 4 blocks to hotel.

FOR KNICKERBOCKER: Take Blue Line to CHICAGO stop. Take #66 bus Eastbound to Michigan Ave. and walk 5 blocks North to Knickerbocker Hotel.

FROM MIDWAY

Take the ORANGE LINE train Northbound (towards Chicago) to the ROOSEVELT Station and Transfer there to the RED LINE NORTHBOUND.

If going to the Millennium Knickerbocker, the closest stop is the CHICAGO AVE station.

If going to the Ambassador East, the closest stop is the CLARK/DIVISION stop.

From the hotels to the zoo:

Café Brauer is on the southwest side of the zoo (near the 'Farm in the Zoo'), off Stockton Drive (which runs through the park), and near the major intersection of N. Clark St. and W. Armitage Ave.

On Foot:

Ambassador East hotel is about .6 miles from the zoo – a decent 10-15 minute walk north. See map.

The Millennium Knickerbocker is a little bit further south, ~1 mile from the zoo – closer to a 20-25 minute walk. See map.

By Bus ($2/ride):

From the Millenium Knickerbocker: The #151 bus runs along N. Michigan Avenue (where the Knickerbocker is) up onto Stockton Drive, and has a stop right near Café Brauer, Armitage is the nearest cross street (ask the bus driver to stop there for you).

From Ambassador East Hotel: The #156 bus runs along LaSalle (which is a few blocks from the Ambassador Hotel) and up onto Stockton Drive. And like the 151 will stop near Café Brauer, Armitage is the nearest cross street (ask the bus driver to stop there for you).
