

Take Your Experience To The Classroom

- If you bring your students to the gardens, please consider engaging your students in some of the following classroom activities. These will enhance and reinforce what was learned during their trip to The Edible Gardens at Lincoln Park Zoo and Green City Market.
 - In a discussion format, have each group share with the class their experiences visiting and touring the Gardens and Market.
 - Allow your students record their personal observations on paper or in a journal.
 - Prepare a worksheet that prompts thoughts and responses to the following questions: What was the hardest/easiest/most fun activity today? What was your task in the Gardens? What did you accomplish? What tools did you use, what plants did you plant or care for? What did you taste and see at the Market? Can you find or eat these vegetables at home?

Please Note: Make all of these activities age-appropriate for your students. They can write a poem, tell a story or draw a picture.
